MOFFAT'S ESTHETICS STUDY OF ÆSTHETICS.

STUDY OF ASTHETICS.

By James C. Mellat, D. D., Professor of Greek in the College of New Jersey, Frinceton. I vol. 12mo., $1.

The title of this book may frighten some worthy penale, with whom Asthetics is something mysterious, and, therefore, fearful. But the volume is a pleasantly written and quite attractive treatise upon the beautiful in arr—art of all kinds and of every branch. Prof. Mediat seems to us a sound and clover writer. He does not assume to be original, but is systematic and clear, and very readable. The arguments are illustrated by anecdote and quotations.

"Prof. Mediat has succeeded in making his definition accurate, and his distinctions clear and tangible. He has brought the sid of strong common sense to he task, and, while far from making up a volume of dry detail has presented the subject in such a light as to make it intelligible to all minds of ordinary streath."

"The work of Dr. Mofiat of Frinceton is simply what it proposes to be.

"It is a profoundly elaborate treatise, evinces a highly philosophical mind, and can scarcely fail to secure to its author accounted place among the lights in the department of which he hes treated."

PR. CHEEVER'S NEW BOOK.—LECTURES ON THE LIFE, GENIUS AND INSANITY OF COWPER. By Geo B, Cheever, D D. 12ma. $1.

"Dr. Cheever has selected for the subject of this volume one of the most remarkable and honored characters in history; remarkable, as having had a religious experience of the most rouching and peculiar kind, and hone elf or the finest intellectual and moral qualities which we can expect to find associated with our fallen humanity. He has entered most fully and happily into the spirit of his noble theme, and has produced a work which turns Cowper's genius and life to better account, and really does more justice to his memory than any work that we have before met with. The portion of the book which strikes us as most valuable, is that which relates to his insanity; for it not only completely neutralizes the attempts which Southey and some others have made to derive from it an argument advances of the production of the bound of the hard many which southey and some others have made to derive from it an argument advances of the production of the horse have made to derive from it an argument advances of the production of the horse have made to derive from it an argument advances of the production of the horse have made to derive from it an argument advances of the production of the horse have headed in the production of the product
